CAREERS IN TECHNOLOGY LAW The Practice Demystified

Technology law is a multi-disciplinary field that touches on intellectual property, contract law, consumer protection and privacy. But what does it really mean to practice technology law? In this program, practitioners from three diverse settings: a law firm, a government agency, and a non-profit organization, will discuss what practicing tech law involves for their industries, the differing career paths available, and the areas of growing opportunities.

CAREERS IN IMMIGRATION LAW

Over forty percent (40%) of New York's population was born abroad. Immigration law touches almost every aspect of legal practice. The field itself is constantly changing. Despite a slow down in many fields of law, immigration is one where the need and the demand for immigration attorneys has been rising. At this program a panel of seasoned practitioners will discuss the many dimensions of immigration law from individual representation to corporate immigration practice. The program will also focus on entering the practice and defining practice areas within the specialty. Panelists will describe diverse backgrounds of the clients, who is the opposing counsel, size and nature of an immigration law firm, and what makes immigration practice exciting and fulfilling.

CAREERS IN COMPLIANCE

Over the past few years, increased transparency has been a dominant trend in several industries, including privacy and data security; health care; and financial services fields. The demand for increased transparency both by the government and special interest groups has required companies to scrutinize their current practices and implement policies and procedures that promote an ethical environment. Compliance professionals within these industries are tasked with leading their respective company's compliance and ethics initiatives. This panel will provide you with information on how to leverage your law degree and experience in the growing area of compliance. Attorneys from various industries will share information about: their day-to-day activities, the benefits and challenges of compliance work, and the steps they took to become specialists in their current fields of practice.

Moderator:

Ronald H. Filler, Professor of Law and Director of the Financial Services Law Institute at New York Law School

Speakers:

Adam Rattner, Compliance Director, Aetna;
Matthew Pizzo, Senior Compliance Associate, Global Compliance Division, NYSE Euronext; Dona F. Fraser, Vice President, Privacy Certified Program, Entertainment Software Rating Board (ESRB); Samantha Banfield, Senior Privacy Officer, Office of the Information Commissioner, Qld (Australia)

Discussion Leader:

Harvey Federman, Director, Enterprise Compliance Program

Each program will consist of a one hour panel presentation followed by small group discussions led by our panel members and other attorneys giving you the unique opportunity to ask questions and gain significant insight into these exciting practice areas.
